

Rules of timing of event

Rule No. 1

First of all prepare the script of planets and understand it in this way:

Planet act as a source of a particular result. Nakshatra lord shows the area or the nature of the result. Finally it is the sub lord which will finally decide that result will fructify or not and the person will enjoy the result or not.

Rule No. 2

Result comes in the joint period of planets which is known as Mahadasha, Antardasha and pratyantardasha (MAP). Planets active in MAP should signify the result giving houses.

Rule No. 3

While timing any event or answering any query. Take the main house Cuspal Sub Lord and see whether it promises the event or not.

(Note: If the question is horary based and main cuspal sublord is retrograde, then event wont take place until it becomes direct. However if, the star lord / Nakshatra lord of the main cuspal Sub Lord is retrograde, the matter will not fructify at all.)

Rule No. 4

Kaushik Rahul

Apart from the natural lord ship. The karaka of a event should also taken into account. This karak should make a relation with the star lord of the main Cuspal Sub Lord under consideration.

For example, in case of marriage or vehicles, Venus should also take into account.

(Note: The above rule is very much applicable in horary)

Rule No. 5

After analysing the promise of event, pick out the planets which are capable of delivering the result. In this case fruitful signifiers are the planet which will actually deliver the event. These are the planets which indicates a result particularly at the untenanted planet or Nakshatra level and finally confirms the result at sub lord level.

Finally these are the fruitful Signifiers only which delivers the result.

(Untenanted Cuspal Sub Lord of a particular house also becomes a strong Fruitful signifier for that house. For example, If Mars is an untenanted planet , and it becomes the cuspal Sub lord of 5th House . Then during Mars dasha child birth can take place even if Mars is not signifying child birth strongly through its script.)

Rule No. 6

After picking out the fruitful significators for a particular planet. Ruling planet of that particular time, needs to be considered. Ruling planets are the planets which rules a particular moment with reference to the position of Ascendent and Moon of that time.

Normally we take four ruling planets which are:

Lagna Lord

Moon NL

Moon SL

Day Lord

Sometimes we also take the 5th ruling planet which is Lagna Star lord and in hierarchy it comes to the top order but it is optional.

In case of strength of ruling planets, we always need to follow the hierarchy. Therefore, Lagna Star (Optional) and Lagna will always be strong and day lord will be the weakest. Repetition of a RP doesn't make it the strongest so hierarchy needs to be followed.

Ruling planets which are in the star of a Retrograde planet needs to be discarded immediately.

Rahu/Ketu will be added in RPs instead of replacing the original RP and more focus will be given to them.

Also the actual result delivering ruling planets are those whose Nakshatra lord is also signifying the event.

Kaushik Rahul

Take out the common planets between RPs and fruitful significators. They are actually the planets in which time periods, the result will come.

Rule No. 7

After picking out the MAP planets, transit will come into play to find out the exact time. For judging the year, Jupiter transit will help. In case of month it is sun, Moon will be taken for the day and Lagna for the hour of happening.

Rule No. 8

Deliver the judgement and thanks your guru, pitra and almighty for blessing you with the divine knowledge.

Rules of timing event in Horary

Rule No. 1

Take the main house Cuspal Sub Lord and see whether it promises the event or not.

If main cuspal sublord is retrograde, then event won't take place until it becomes direct. However if, the star lord / Nakshatra lord of the main cuspal Sub Lord is retrograde, the matter will not fructify at all.

Rule No. 2

If Moon is there in the 11th house of horary chart or Moon's sign cancer is there, event will surely going to take place or the query will be fulfilled.

Rule No. 3

If the main cuspal sublord is showing 11th house and 11th Cuspal sublord is showing the main house. Desire will be fulfilled for sure. For example, if question is about marriage, 7th Cuspal Sublord signifying 11th and 11th Cuspal Sublord Signifying 7th shows that query will be fulfilled for sure.

Rule No. 4

After picking out the fruitful signifiers for a particular planet. Ruling planet of that particular time, needs to be considered. Ruling planets are the planets which rules a particular moment with reference to the position of Ascendent and Moon of that time.

Normally we take four ruling planets which are:

Lagna Lord

Moon NL

Moon SL

Day Lord

Sometimes we also take the 5th ruling planet which is Lagna Star lord and in hierarchy it comes to the top order but it is optional.

In case of strength of ruling planets, we always need to follow the hierarchy. Therefore, Lagna Star (Optional) and Lagna will always be strong and day lord will be the weakest. Repetition of a RP doesn't make it the strongest so hierarchy needs to be followed.

Ruling planets which are in the star of a Retrograde planet needs to be discarded immediately.

Rahu/Ketu will be added in RPs instead of replacing the original RP and more focus will be given to them.

Also the actual result delivering ruling planets are those whose Nakshatra lord is also signifying the event.

Take out the common planets between RPs and fruitful significators. They are actually the planets in which time periods, the result will come.

Rule No. 5

After picking out the MAP planets, transit will come into play to find out the exact time. For judging the year, Jupiter transit will help. In case of month it is sun, Moon will be taken for the day and Lagna for the hour of happening.

Rule No. 6

Deliver the judgement and thanks your guru, pitra and almighty for blessing you with the divine knowledge.

Kaushik Rahul